PASS: 40%

CREDITS: 2

Objectives: To promote analytical thinking, research skills and creativity among learners through structured seminar presentations and applied socio-legal engagement. The interactive environment ensures deeper conceptual understanding of women's empowerment, legal frameworks and contemporary challenges beyond conventional classroom learning.

Course Outcomes:

CO1. Select and study a relevant socio-legal issue related to women's empowerment covered in Modules I–III.

CO2. Prepare an effective PowerPoint presentation demonstrating conceptual clarity, legal awareness and critical analysis of the selected topic.

CO3. Participate in interactive discussions and provide constructive academic feedback to peers.

CO4. Compile a concise seminar/project report reflecting research orientation, field insights (where applicable) and socio-legal understanding.

Activity I: Project Report

Students will prepare a research-based project report (2500–3000 words) on a topic related to women's empowerment, gender justice, or socio-legal issues.

The report should include:

- Introduction
- Objectives of the study
- Methodology (basic)
- Analysis and discussion
- Findings and conclusion

Activity II: Presentation and Viva Voce

Students will present their project work through a PowerPoint presentation, followed by a viva voce examination.

This will include:

- Preparation of PPT based on the project
- Presentation of key ideas and findings (10–15 minutes)
